

BILLY AND THE OUTHOUSE PIT

I would bet that a lot of people reading this story do not even know what an outhouse is and if you know what an outhouse is it would be a good bet that you have never used one and an even surer bet that you have never had to dig a new outhouse pit when the old nasty one gets full. When I was a young boy staying on my sister Jenny and her husband Ben's ranch they did not have an indoor toilet. They did have a very stinky outhouse!

They did have an indoor bathroom but all it had was a beautiful old bathtub and they had to heat the water on the wood burning stove in the kitchen where there was a hand pump to get the buckets of water that they needed to pump about ten buckets of water to get a decent bath and at least half of those had to be heated on the stove in a big cast iron pot. By the time you got all that water heated the water in the tub in the bathroom was already starting to cool down so it was a real trick to get a warm bath using that system but once a week I did get an almost warm, never hot, bath.

The six hired men on the McDeadlip ranch had spent most of the day digging a new hole next to the outhouse. They had just enough daylight left to pull the outhouse over the new hole and pull the slide beams out from under it to lower it onto the ground over the deep pit. They were quarreling over who would be the first to use it. What an odd reward but if you had been using it with that full stinking hole under it in the past few months you would have thought it to be a privilege to be the first to use it too.

They were still arguing about it when they heard the distant howling of coyotes and they all loved to go hunting so the argument quickly ended when they decided to go coyote hunting right away. They did not take the time to fill in the nasty pit that was full of human waste and did not even put any boards over it because they were in to much of a hurry to go hunting. They enjoyed killing the pups most of all for some odd depraved reason that still sickens me to this day.

Tommy and Jimmy are playing with the coyote pups and everyone was having a wonderful time under the watchful eyes of the adult coyotes when in the distance several gunshots rang out and the large coyotes lay bleeding and soon died. The hunters came rushing in to kill the pups. They used crow bars and wooden clubs to beat them to death as they cried in pain. The men said that they were not worth the price of a bullet since their furs were too small to sell but at least they would not kill any more calves next spring.

Tommy quickly hid in the sand but Jimmy was so angry that he started trying to hit the men with one of their clubs that he managed to get away from one of them. The men had spent several nights looking for Jimmy since he disappeared a couple months ago and now they were not so sure that they were glad that they had found him since he did not care to understand how important it was to get rid of coyotes from the ranch because they killed many new born calves every spring and cattle is how the ranch makes its money so coyotes had to go. Jimmy loved playing with the coyote pups and he did not care at all for their cattle at this moment. Seeing those men smashing the brains out of the pups' little heads made Jimmy very angry.

The men tried to subdue him but soon realized that Jimmy was beyond reason and they tied him up and put him in the back of one of the two pickup trucks that they were driving and went back to their fun of killing babies and Jimmy screamed and cursed at them the whole time. By the time they were done they were quite angry with Jimmy because of the nasty curses he had been yelling at them and a few of them were still sore because Jimmy had hit them with one of their own bats that they had been using to kill the pups.

The men got into the trucks and drove back to the ranch taking the adult coyotes for the bounty they could get for their furs but just left the pups lying where they had died. Jimmy was so angry that he had not calmed down by the time they reached the bunk house. Old Bob used the CB radio to contact Ben and tell him that they had found Jimmy and that Jimmy was very angry with them for killing the coyote pups that he had been playing with. They also reported that they saw a young Indian boy with Jimmy but that the boy hid before they got up close and they could not find him. They had Jimmy at the bunk house and he was so very angry at them that they decided that he needed to be taught a lesson, Old Bob thought that Ben would want to come join in the fun as always.

Ben told the men not to hurt Jimmy because it would get him into trouble too but the men had already made up their mind to give Jimmy a lesson he would never forget. Not that they really needed any excuse to torture and rape a child if they thought they would get away with it.

Ben knew what they had in mind for Jimmy because he had been involved with them in the past but this boy was his wife's brother and he did not want the trouble that would come if he let this happen. He was in town drinking with some buddies and thought he better head for home but as he was leaving he saw the sheriff's car and truck setting there on main street. The sheriff and his deputies were setting around having a party of their own waiting for something to happen that they could write a ticket for to gain the county some revenue.

Ben got on his CB radio and set it to talk to the sheriff. He asked them to follow him out to the ranch because he was afraid his hired hands were up to some bad trouble and he was likely going to need the sheriff's whole group of deputies to stop them. He explained that the men had found the missing boy, Jimmy, but that he was afraid that they were going to hurt him badly!

Ben had been thinking of running for sheriff in the next election and got the idea that he could use this to his advantage toward becoming sheriff if he played it out as he hoped so he was trying to plan this so that if Jimmy was going to get hurt anyway that he could get rid of his bunch of hired men and no one would have to know that he had been in cahoots with the bunch many time in the past. That would be the best way to get them to stop threatening him with blackmail every time one of them thought they deserved a raise. This could work out great! Ben could get rid of the treat of every one knowing that he was really one of the bad guys and if any of them told the sheriff they would just be thought to be trying to pin it on Ben for bringing the sheriff to stop them from torturing and raping Jimmy. This would work out great for Ben.

Tommy was hiding near by watching and wanted to help Jimmy but he did not have his weapons and he wanted the advice of Grandmother 10 All first but a man named Pete was there talking to her. She advised Tommy to take Pete along to help rescue Jimmy. Tommy did not trust Pete because he knew what Pete was like eight years ago. Pete had recently become a Christian but was still a mighty good fighter but Tommy did not want his help and all Grandmother would do was pray. Tommy got angry and grabbed all his weapons and left in a hurry cursing as he went.

Pete had no way to keep up because he was a very large man that could not move quickly at all but if he managed to stay on his feet he was a very powerful warrior. [Learn about Pete in my previous stories about him.]

By some great water miracle Pete managed to arrive at the bunkhouse first but when he looked in the window he was so grieved with what he saw because he had been the worst of such horrible men just days ago and he was so extremely upset with himself, now since he had become a Christian, that the fight all went out of him. Pete started crying uncontrollably and he was stumbling around the yard and into the road out front of the bunk house.

Old Bob was not getting involved in the rape directly but he was a large part of the torture. He was setting on his padded stool behind the door and getting into the torture side of the abuse. He had the BB rifle that all of the men had purchased for Jimmy last summer when they abused him the first time and then thought they could shut him up with a gift but their plan did not work. Sadly no one would believe Jimmy's story, not even his own mother, the first time that it had happened so it did little good and would have been all the same if he had just not told anyone at all what had happened. This time things were much worse but Jimmy would not be able to tell anyone about it.

Every time Old Bob got an opening that was a clear shot at Jimmy's butt he would pop him with a BB and yell at him saying, "I bet you wish you had taken our gift and just shut up now don't you, you little punk, take that!" At the same time as Old Bob was teasing Jimmy, Charley was threatening Jimmy with a very scary very sharp knife. Charley told Jimmy that if he was going to be their little girl that he would just cut off what was supposed to make him a boy. Then he said he might just stick his blade into Jimmy's heart the way he did the last little boy that would not do what he was told. Just then one of Old Bob's shots was timed wrong and Billy caught a BB in the one spot that you never want to get shot with a BB. Normally a BB does little damage but with blood all pumped up as it was in that area and then get hit there with a BB caused blood to start squirting like a geyser. Billy's mind was really racing now and his thoughts were nothing about wanting to get more pleasure from raping Jimmy. He was holding tightly between his legs but the blood would not stop gushing.

His mind went home to his wife whom was 8 months pregnant and now he was wishing that he had staid home with her and waited for the baby to come. The pain physically and emotionally was more than he could stand and he was getting dizzy from the quick loss of blood. He was more embarrassed now from this than from being naked in front of all his friends and raping a child. Ox yelled at him, "Billy, get out of here, you are making a mess and bringing down the party. Go on, get outside so we do not have to clean up after you!" That is a nice thing to say to one of your best friends as you see his life slipping away in such a dreadful way but to these horrible, evil men, their own pleasures and sexual perversions were even more important than the life of their own friend.

Billy went rushing out the door just as Tommy got there and was bent over to look though the window. The flying door almost knocked Tommy over but as he saw Billy running out he just let him run on by because he could see he was in pretty bad shape and thought he would just let him suffer. As for the others, he had much more planned for them.

Billy was trying to get to the outhouse. In his rush as he ran out the door he thought he must have been hallucinating because he was sure that he saw an Indian dressed ready for war, fearfully painted and carrying a vast variety of very sharp weapon, a long spear, several short spears and a bow with many arrows but most strange of all was a slingshot. Why would a warrior want a slingshot when he was equipped with so many other much superior weapons?

Billy decided that he was just seeing things because he was losing blood so fast and he thought that somehow he could stop the blood before he died but he did not make it to the new outhouse. In his rush to get to the outhouse he stumbled into where the old outhouse had been, an open pit of human waste. Within seconds he had drowned long before he would bleed to death.

It took many years before anyone dug in that area again when they were building a new garage so when Billy was finally found he had been missing for a very long time. His daughter was grown and had a little baby boy of her own that she named Billy in honor of her father but she had no idea how he had died or she likely would not have honored the man by naming her son after him. She only knew that he had been missing her entire lifetime.

Written by:

Jimmy Thompson
James R Thompson
Jim Thompson
Jimmy Slingshot
Jimmy T
All of these are me...

Started December 2015 last edited September 2021

You can find me on Facebook as Jimmy Thompson in Hastings, NE or email me at jimmyslingshot@gmail.com